Wirra Schools

Wirra Schools is a Remote School Attendance Strategy program run in Wiluna Remote Community School, aimed at improving school attendance in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children by working with families to ensure attendance and retention at school.

Wiluna based staff engage local community members and services to work together to overcome barriers to regular school attendance by facilitating rewards based visits from Wirrpanda Foundation mentors, sporting competitions, hosting community events and supporting families with daily responsibilities.

“Welcome Stacey Petterson and Kelman Patch (KP) to the Wirrpanda Foundation team.

Stacey and KP will be working with Wiluna RCS and local agencies to help kids get to school.

Stop by the Foundation office on Wotton St to say hi or give us a call on 9242 6747”

CEO's Report

The Art Gallery is nearing completion and will be opened to the public on Monday 21st August. The remaining buildings of the Heritage and Interpretation Centre still require some minor renovations and will remain closed until further notice. The Shire is about to undertake planning for the development of suitable historical displays. On behalf of the Shire, I would like to invite all residents and visitors of Wiluna to come and view the newly renovated Art Gallery. This facility will allow the Shire to better support local Martu indigenous art.

Internal shots of the new Art Gallery

Councillors and I attended the Local Government Week convention in Perth. This convention is a major annual event for local governments across the State which allows for better networking opportunities as well as interacting with industry specific displays and contractors. The Shire also attended the annual Local Government Week GVROC meeting with the other nine members to discuss a number of local issues including the funding of the Wiluna to Meekatharra section of the Goldfields Highway.

The Shire has commenced the clean-up of the old Club Hotel in preparation for the major renovation works. The building will undergo renovation works in two stages, with the first stage focusing on the ground floor. This stage will involve the conversion of the old public bar area into the new Shire Administration Centre, the current dining room and kitchen will be retained for future community purposes. The second stage of the renovation works will involve the upstairs area of the building and includes the installation of a lift as well as the creation of a new Council Chamber, Function Centre and Office Space.

On a sad note, Mr Louka Shopov has left the Shire due to family reasons. I would like to thank Louka for his service to the local community and wish him all the best with his future endeavours.

After a talking sheepdog gets all the sheep in the pen, he reports back to the farmer: "All 40 accounted for."

"But I only have 36 sheep," says the farmer.

"I know," says the sheepdog. "But I rounded them up."

A woman called our airline customer-service desk asking if she could take her dog on board.

"Sure," I said, "as long as you provide your own kennel." I further explained that the kennel needed to be large enough for the dog to stand up, sit down, turn around, and roll over.

The customer was flummoxed: "I'll never be able to teach him all of that by tomorrow!"

A Canadian psychologist is selling a video that teaches you how to test your dog's IQ. Here's how it works: If you spend $12.99 for the video, your dog is smarter than you.

Why do dogs always race to the door when the doorbell rings? It's hardly ever for them.

I spend three minutes every day choosing a TV channel to leave on for my dog. Then I go to work, and people take me seriously as an adult.

My niece was dragged into court by a neighbour who complained about her barking dogs. At one point, the judge asked the neighbour a question. The neighbour didn't reply. "Sir, are you going to answer me?"

The neighbour leaped to his feet. "Are you talking to me?" he asked. "Sorry; I can't hear a darn thing."

The case was dismissed.

Goldfields Highway upgrade at risk of axing by WA Government looking for savings

ABC Mid West and Wheatbelt
By Sarah Taillier

Updated Thu at 1:12pmThu 13 Jul 2017, 1:12pm

Photo: WA's Goldfields Highway features more than 100km of unsealed road, isolating communities (Supplied: Shire of Wiluna)

It has been described as the missing link.

The Goldfields Highway, one of the nation's last unsealed highways, winds deep into the heart of Western Australia's red dirt outback.

It is a vital connection between communities and resource-rich mining regions and locals believe that if the highway was sealed, it would unlock the outback to the rest of the world.

But with a ballooning debt, the newly-elected Labor Government looks poised to axe $60 million of funding to fix the state's last unsealed highway.

HIGH SOCIAL COST OF ISOLATION LINKED TO DIRT ROAD

Pastoralists Jim Quadrio, lives on a station near Wiluna, is one of those who stands to be affected.

He argues there is a high social cost of isolating remote communities.

It's extremely frustrating because that road will open up, basically, inland WA," Mr Quadrio said.

More than 100 dusty kilometres of the highway, between the frontier towns of Wiluna and Meekatharra, is not sealed.

That significantly increases travel time and costs mining and freight companies thousands of dollars in fuel and wear and tear.

It also cuts off communities during heavy rain, which forces the road to close.

Mr Quadrio is also president of the Shire of Wiluna, which sits near the centre of the state.

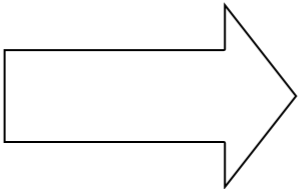

He said the region had waited more than 60 years for government commitments to be fulfilled.

"It started back when they closed the railway line back in 1957," he said.

Sudoku

Sudoku, is a logic-based, combinatorial number-placement puzzle. The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 subgrids that compose the grid contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

The Perth couple who got lost separately in the West Australian desert after an apparent disagreement have reunited in hospital and plan to venture back into the outback together.

Police are bewildered as to how and why Anthony Collis and Debbie Blomfield attempted a shortcut to Darwin, then came to be found three days apart in separate areas of the harsh Gibson Desert, more than 400km east of the iron ore town of Newman.

Senior sergeant Bob Scott of Newman police told Nine News it appeared the couple was on the Canning Stock Route on Thursday afternoon when Mr Collis drove into the bush while Ms Blomfield began walking the sandy stock route.

“All I know is that they were having a discussion about their location and then he drove off into the bush,” Senior Sergeant Scott said. “Whatever went on, police do not want to have to -rescue them again. I’m assisting them to find their vehicle — they don’t know where it is, and my main concern is that they don’t get lost in my area.

“We’re going to get that -vehicle — at their cost — and then I’m going to escort them out of my area to put them on the right road to Darwin.”

Ms Blomfield, 39, was dehydrated and disorientated when she walked into a miners’ camp on the stock route about 10pm on Thursday. Mr Collis, 32, was found on Sunday morning after a police plane from Perth delivered Tactical Response Group officers to search with SES volunteers.

At night Mr Collis dug holes and covered himself with branches for warmth as the temperatures dropped to 2C, as he later told police he had seen Bear Grylls do on television. However, he was effectively underground which meant he was virtually undetectable to heat-seeking equipment aboard a search helicopter.

Police came to believe he was either not in the search area, or dead.

“He’d bogged his vehicle and he’d lost where he had that -vehicle. He had no water and had no food,” Sergeant Scott told Nine News. “He’s broken every rule, every single safety rule and the first one is you don’t leave your vehicle.”

He said there had been water, fuel and warm clothes in the car.

The area is where Bradley John Richards, 40, and his nephew Mac Bevan Cody, 21, died after their car broke down in 2005.

"An announcement was made then that Wiluna-Meekatharra would be promised what they called then an 'all weather' road, linking the two towns.

"It has been ongoing, obviously for quite a long while."

That funding, in the late 1950s, did not come through.

The state government again committed to fix the road in 1998 but that money was pulled.

RECONSIDERING ROYALTIES FOR REGIONS PROJECT

Finally, in June 2016, the $60 million to seal 124 kilometres of the highway was passed through cabinet.

That funding is now that is being reconsidered — along with a dozens of other Royalties for Regions projects — as the new Labor Government searches for savings.

WA's Minister for Regional Development Alannah MacTiernan said the government would focus on projects "that are going to be growing the economy in the most direct way".

"I wouldn't want to give people false hope," Ms MacTiernan said.

"It is one of the projects that clearly is under review. There are a range of road projects that we did commit to in the election.

"It was never going to be possible for us to deliver our $1 billion worth of election commitments in the regions and deliver all of the things that the Liberals and also the Nats [National Party] were independently committing to."

CAN'T PUT A PRICE ON PRODUCTIVITY OR SAFETY SAYS TRUCKIE

When the unsealed section of Goldfields Highway is closed or in poor condition, haulage companies, residents and tourists spend hours travelling down alternative routes to avoid the stretch.

Former truck driver Anthony Bakranich, known to everyone as "Bucko", has travelled down the Goldfields Highway countless times.

"Some places you just scratch your head and you don't want to go on it but you have to," he said.

Bucko said you could not put a price on productivity or safety.

"You don't half ass do a job and expect people to accept it and go somewhere else, when the route has already been designated, the money's been put aside for that road.

"It should be finished, end of story."

REGION SAYS IT FEELS FORGOTTEN

Mr Quadrio said it feels like the region is being forgotten.

"Quite frankly, I think it's just sheer numbers and politics. There's not enough votes out here that really matter," he said.

"Wiluna is probably producing $100 million-plus in royalties a year to the government of the day, just out of the Wiluna Shire alone.

"I'm sure if we can't get $60 million back over the number of years that it's been contributing, then there's something wrong and inequitable."

Despite more than half a century of broken promises, Mr Quadrio is hopeful the road will eventually be sealed.

"I just hope I am not like my dad and I can live long enough to see it happen," he said.

Local Government Elections

21 October 2017

Local Government Elections are happening in October. There are 4 vacancies, 3 expiring in 2021 and 1 expiring in 2019.

Council have engaged the WA Electoral Commission to carry out a postal election

The benefits of a postal election are:

- ◇ Significantly better participation rates than “in person” elections.
- ◇ Minimal disruption to day to day operations
- ◇ Senior officers can better focus on other duties and projects
- ◇ The election is conducted at arm’s length, thus minimising any perception of inappropriate staff interference, and
- ◇ The election is core business for the Electoral Commission’s experienced staff

This month the CEO is to give Statewide public notice of the time and date of close of enrolments so he can advise the Electoral Commissioner of the need to prepare a residents roll.

Advertising may begin for nominations from 56 days and no later than 45 days before election day.

Nominations open on the 7 September 2017 and close on 14 September 2017.

If you have ever thought about becoming a Councillor, now is your opportunity.

Pastures from Space® Plus

Developed with farmers, for farmers

landgate.wa.gov.au

Pastures from Space® Plus is an online farm monitoring tool providing Pasture Growth Rates (PGR), Feed On Offer (FOO), Total Dry Matter (TDM) and Greenness Imagery (NDVI). Originally developed in partnership with CSIRO and the Department of Agriculture and Food (DAFWA) – farmers and graziers have worked with Landgate to develop a unique product that will help farmers.

Applications/Use

- Farmers can see at a glance their paddocks' performance – without leaving home
- Make decisions on grazing, feed budgeting, fertiliser application
- Increase pasture utilisation
- Increase edible grass content and reduce weeds
- Align animal demand with pasture supply
- Identify emerging trends early in the season

Features / Benefits

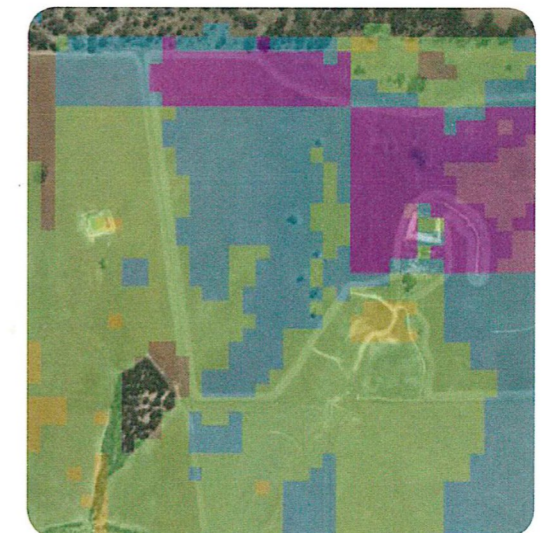

- Multi-farm/consultants version New
- Near real-time satellite data at the touch of a button
- 250m and 30m resolutions
- Web service (no software required)
- Compatible with Apple, Android and Windows devices
- In-built stocking rate calculator
- Historical pasture data on your farm from 2004
- Easy to read charts
- Simple subscription service
